West Nations to Strengthen NATO Political Ties

Will Prepare For Cold War Counter-Drive

Action Follows Move to Beef Up Military Power

PARIS (U.P.)—The West agreed today at a meeting of the 15 NATO foreign ministers to strengthen the political ties of the Atlantic alliance for a counter-offensive against the Soviets' new cold war moves.

The NATO Allies already had agreed to beef up their military defenses against the Soviets. Today the foreign ministers decided in a secret three-hour meeting to bolster their political action.

In another move to beef up the West's military power in Europe, the NATO powers announced they will build a brand new tactical air force with American units based behind the Alps in northern Italy.

The new move will widen the spread of Allied air bases now clustered in mid-Europe. It will strengthen the continent's air shield against Soviet aggression with United States aircraft and pilots to serve clear notice that no American withdrawal is planned.

A NATO spokesman said the new defensive air fleet will be known as the 5th Allied Tactical Air Force. He said new U. S. air units would fly in to join it on the northern Italian bases.

To Step Up Propaganda

They also agreed to step up NATO propaganda at home and abroad to counter the steady barrage poured out by Moscow Radio and Soviet spokesmen at home and abroad.

The ministers studied proposals for giving the Atlantic alliance a full-fledged political council or delegating political powers to the present permanent NATO ambassadors to tighten their alliance against the Soviet initiative.

"A slap in the face of one NATO country will be a slap in the face of all of us," one minister said as he emerged from a conference room.

NATO conferees said the ministers made such progress at this second day of the three-day session that they might be able to wind up the conference with a communique tonight.

The foreign ministers meeting—which excluded most of their aides—was called specifically to plan strategy that could win in the "new cold war front" in the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

Complaint Asks Court to Cancel Oil, Gas Lease

Owners of mineral rights in Section 21, Eldorado township, seek to cancel an oil and gas lease in a complaint on file today in circuit court.

Plaintiffs are Graydon L. Davidson, Lida Downey and Dale Davidson, brothers and sister, and the defendant is T. A. Payton Sr.

The complaint says that Graydon Davidson, Mrs. Downey and Beulah Conover owned the mineral rights and Graydon Davidson the surface rights on the land on Dec. 15, 1954, the time the minerals were leased to Payton. After executing the lease, Mrs. Conover conveyed her one-third interest to Dale Davidson.

The lease, the complaint says, was to terminate Dec. 15, 1955, unless a well was commenced and completed by March 15, 1955. A well was commenced, it states, but was not completed and the complaint asks that the court declare the lease to Payton null and void.

The complaint was filed by the Carmi law firm, Kern and Pearce.

Tenneson Returns Home After Turning Back on U. S.; Greeted by Mother

MINNEAPOLIS (U.P.)—Turncoat GI Richard Tenneson returned to his home and mother today after turning his back first on his own country and then on Communist China.

Mrs. Portia Howe, Alden, Minn., rushed up the ramp to Tenneson's plane with tears in her eyes and embraced him. He had once spurned her after she crossed the ocean to try to win him from the Reds.

Tenneson parried most questions by newsmen and Mrs. Howe pleaded "How can he be expected to evaluate? He just got home."

He assured his mother that he will go to church Sunday despite statements in Hong Kong earlier this week that he no longer is religious and does not believe in the power of prayer.

Asked if he will pray to God Sunday, he replied: "I'll be in church and that's what you go to church for."

Now Uncertain About God

Tenneson said, however, he will "wait until I've been around here for awhile" before deciding whether or he still believes in God. He said that right now he feels uncertain.

Benson Predicts Lower Farm Income in 1956

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—If Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's prediction is correct, net farm income in 1956 will be about $10,200,000,000, down 400 million dollars from 1955, and $1,600,000,000 from 1954.

A net farm income of $10,200,000,000 next year would mean a drop of almost 14 per cent in two years.

This year's estimated farm income of $10,600,000,000, which was 10 per cent under 1954, already has Republican politicians worried well in advance of next year's presidential campaign. The predicted further drop of about four per cent—although much smaller than last year's decline—would add to their misery as well as hurt the farmers.

Benson told reporters Thursday that he expected farm income next year to remain at about the present level. But under questioning, he said that average farm income for 1956 as a whole would be lower than in 1955.

Benson's remarks to reporters squared with forecasts made by Agriculture Department economists in the publication, "The Farm Income Situation." The publication stated net farm income in 1956 "will probably show some decline."

Benson was optimistic in a carefully-worded 1956 outlook statement made Thursday before television cameras.

He said "this abnormal condition" of declining farm income in the face of a rising national economy "has about run its course."

"Some improvement in prices of a number of farm commodities can be expected in the year ahead," he said. He did not specify any commodities which he said would improve. He has said earlier that the live hog market will improve shortly. Hogs now are at a 14-year low.

Circuit Court Jury Returns Verdict For Defendant

A circuit court jury deliberated a little more than an hour this morning, then returned a verdict in favor of Dr. James H. Lewis, who was sued by William H. Price.

Price sought damages on the contention that Dr. Lewis broke an oral contract with him which involved a farm Lewis owned near Carrier Mills. Lewis denied such a contract.

Lewis was brought to the trial in an ambulance and sat in a wheelchair during the proceedings. Price was represented by Atty. D. F. Rumsey, Lewis by Atty. Lloyd H. Melton.

While the jury was deliberating this case another lawsuit was started. It was Joseph G. Crabb vs. Charles F. Smith and Adolph Smith, doing business as the Smith Packing Co.

Crabb is seeking damages as a result of a collision of his car and a packing company truck driven by Charles E. Smith on Route 34 south of Harrisburg March 4, 1954. Crabb is represented by Atty. Robert V. Wilson, the defendants by Atty. Charles Jeffrie.

Mrs. Howe had said her son's statement about religion after his exit from Hong Kong was her greatest immediate concern.

Mrs. Howe was crying softly but her son smiled broadly when they met and kissed on the ramp of the plane. When they reached the ground, Tenneson gave a big hug to his 12-year-old twin half-brother and sister.

The first question asked by the boy, Eben Howe Jr., was "Why did you cut your hair?" Tenneson laughed and replied he got a crew cut in Hong Kong after entering the free city from Red China late Monday.

He stood back and looked at his half-sister, Jan, and held his hand at his waist.

"It seems funny, she was just about this big," he said.

Tenneson said he had had only eight hours sleep since crossing the border.

Turkey Dinner Today

"The first thing I'm going to do when I get home to Alden is sit around and talk to the folks and then get some sleep," he said.

Mrs. Howe said she plans a big turkey dinner for her son this afternoon on their farm near Alden, about 100 miles south of here.

Tenneson's step-father, Eben Howe, a half-brother, arrived with the GI and Mrs. Howe were being interviewed. Howe and Nathan drove from Alden this morning; Mrs. Howe and the twins arrived here Thursday night.

Tenneson said at Seattle Thursday night "I have come home as an American and not as a Communist."

"I have no use for communism," said the 22-year-old Alden, Minn., ex-soldier shortly after arriving here aboard a Northwest Orient Airlines plane.

Tenneson would not pinpoint reasons as to why he decided to return home.

"I prefer not to talk about this now," he said. "I have my own

Two Land Owners Awarded $9,000 In Circuit Court

Two land owners have been awarded damages totalling $9,000 from the Blue Bird Coal company in Saline County Circuit court.

The suits were filed for damages resulting from mining operations.

The case was tried before a jury Wednesday and the verdict read in court Thursday morning.

C. C. Fenwick was awarded $6,000 and Zula B. Davis $3,000.

The plaintiffs were represented by Atty. Arlie O. Boswell, the defendant by Rumsey and Dennis.

In other action, Circuit court Thursday Judge C. Ross Reynolds, on the recommendation of State's Attorney Robert Wilson, placed George Batelli Jr. on two years' probation.

Batelli, charged with taking an automobile owned by Claude Shelton of Carrier Mills, entered a plea of guilty.

The automobile was taken from the parking lot near the Carrier Mills high school. The theft occurred almost a year ago. The car was recovered within a few hours from the time it was taken.

Western Notes Reaffirm Right to Berlin

Statements Hold Soviets Responsible For 4-Power Pact

BERLIN (U.P.)—The Western Allies said today in a statement they will hold the Soviets responsible for four-power agreements on Germany despite the Soviet grant of sovereignty to East Germany.

The American, British and French embassies in Bonn issued separate statements affirming their right to Berlin soon after West German scrap dealers disclosed the Communists had seized 11 west-bound trucks worth $183,000 in another effort to force recognition of the East Three statements rejected the contention of Soviet Ambassador G. M. Pushkin that East Germany can limit Western Allied rights in Berlin as threatened recently by both the Soviets and the German Communists.

The embassies said the Western powers made it clear to the Soviets in their note to Moscow Oct. 3 that "they continue to hold the Soviet government responsible for the obligations assumed by it in the quadripartite four-power agreements regarding Germany."

They said this remains the position of the West. Later, it was disclosed that the three Western ambassadors sent similar notes to Pushkin, repeating the views disclosed by the statements.

A spokesman for the scrap dealers association said Communist customs guards were holding the trucks at the Communist Marienborn checkpoint at the Western end of the 110-mile highway from isolated Berlin.

He said the trucks would have to pay "huge fines" or face outright confiscation of their trucks. He said the scrap shipments they contained already have been seized by the Reds.

"The action is strictly political," the spokesman said. "There was nothing wrong with the trucks' shipping documents. When we inquired at the East German customs office about the matter we were told 'You will have no trouble if your ministry talks to our ministry.'"

He said the Communists began their new interference with the scrap shipments this week on a pretext that the shipping documents were not in order.

Charge Two in Million Dollar Counterfeit Plot

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U.P.)—A "conscientious" state employee and another man faced charges today of plotting to counterfeit "an Arizona million dollars" in an Arizona Highway Department office.

Police and U. S. Secret Service agents wound up a three-week undercover, round-the-clock investigation Thursday with the arrest of David E. Stonebocker, 29, a multibillion offset press operator, and William E. Shearer, 26, a Phoenix salesman for the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Stonebocker was arrested at his office in the State Highway Department where, Secret Service agent George W. Walker said, "quite a number" of $10 and $20 bills, as well as almost 100 pounds of "quality bonded paper," were found.

Capt. Orme Morehead, chief of Phoenix police detectives, said the bonded paper was sufficient to print about $200,000 in counterfeit $10 and $20 bills. Authorities, he said, believed the plot involved printing of "possibly a million dollars" in bogus money.

Officers said Shearer, taken into custody as he started his day's work, had possession of certain proofs of $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100 bills and a $1,000 bill.

Both men face charges of possessing material for making counterfeit money. Officers made the arrest before any counterfeit money had been printed.

Ministers Ask County Board to Take Action on Law Enforcement

Sheriff Says He Has Not Received Complaint by Group

Rev. William Fuson, pastor of the Dorrisville Baptist church, acting as spokesman for a group of ministers of Saline county, appealing to the County Board of Supervisors Thursday to take action regarding "lax law enforcement in Saline county." There were nine ministers in the group.

Saline county officials were contacted by a Daily Register reporter concerning the charges and Sheriff

Bitter Cold Wave Spreads Across Nation

By United Press

The bitter cold wave of the season chilled the nation from the Pacific Northwest to the Eastern seaboard today.

The cold wave spread out from a killer blizzard that lashed Canada and the snow and ice were blamed for at least nine deaths in the two countries.

Near-blizzards were blamed for deaths in South Dakota and Indiana and icy roads killed two persons in Pennsylvania and one in Wisconsin.

In Canada, the prairie provinces were digging out from one of the worst blizzards in their history. There were four persons known dead and hope dwindled for a farmer and laborer missing since Monday.

The massive freeze bit all the way to the Southeast coastal states and parts of the Gulf Coast early today.

Sub-zero readings, which included an icy 48 below in Montana Thursday, eased slightly in the nation's north today. Only the upper Mississippi Valley shivered in below-zero temperatures. But in other parts of the country it was still the coldest weather of the season.

In Chicago, a biting six above was registered early today. It was zero at Minneapolis.

Some relief was promised for the Midwest today.

Three Enter Race For Coroner on Democratic Ticket

With 1956 an election year, talk of politics is increasing these days and the first definite word on who is planning to run for county offices comes from the coroner's race.

Three persons, it was learned, are circulating their petitions to have their names placed on the Democratic ticket for coroner.

The three are Dr. Jim Woolard of Galatia, present court bailiff; A. E. Giles, Eldorado packing house products salesman; and James Thornton, funeral director at Carrier Mills and Stonefort.

There are no petitions circulating yet for coroner candidates on the Republican ticket. Other county offices coming up next year are state's attorney and circuit clerk.

Dates to file nominating petitions are Jan. 16 through Jan. 23. The primary will be in April, the final election in November.

W. T. Barrett issued a statement that he had never received a complaint from any group and that the ministerial association had never called at his office. Other officials spoke in a like manner.

Lists Five Points

In addressing the Supervisors Rev. Fuson stated "We as ministers purpose to uphold the law and that elected officials do the same." He then listed five points where the ministers believed there was lax enforcement:

1. "Bootlegging of liquor in Saline county is 'pretty' free. We feel that liquor is flowing free in some places and the liquor is being bootlegged in a dry county;

2. "That it is possible for a man to be arrested and have his indictment quashed before the fine is paid;

3. "That it is possible for fines to be 'watered down' so that the amount is so small it makes no difference;

4. "That the Harrisburg drive-in theater is guilty of showing obscene movies;

5. "That discrimination was shown in drawing up the boundaries of the proposed village of Muddy. That territory was included that would vote wet and territory excluded that would vote dry. We feel discrimination was shown and someone should take action."

In concluding his remarks to the supervisors, Rev. Fuson added that the ministers believed clubs in Saline county were in violation of the law by selling liquor and that gambling devices were operating in the city of Harrisburg.

He added that it was the belief of the ministers that it was the board's business to uphold the law and to exercise its influence upon officials to enforce the law.

"We do not plan to take any direct action or call names or dates unless forced to do so," Rev. Fuson declared.

Sheriff's Statement

Sheriff Barrett, queried by The Daily Register concerning the charges by the ministers, stated:

"I have discussed with other southern Illinois sheriffs the conditions in their counties, and on the basis of their information, know that Saline county is quieter than any other county in southern Illinois."

"I was not invited to the Board of Supervisors meeting at which the charges were made. The group making the charges did not visit my office today en route to the County Board meeting, nor have they ever discussed the charges with me."

"There always has been and there likely always will be some bootlegging in Saline and other counties. We have made raids and will continue to do our best to see that the situation in Saline county is kept under control."

Third Democrat To Formally Enter Contest

Tennessean Says He Will Wage Vigorous Campaign

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Sen. Estes Kefauver announced formally today that he is a candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

The lanky Tennessean told a crowded news conference he again will wage a "vigorous campaign" for the highest office in the land even though he failed to win his party's nomination in 1952.

Kefauver said in a prepared statement that he will fight for the nomination in "a number of state primaries... as many as I can." The statement did not identify these primaries, however.

Kefauver is the third Democrat to announce formally for the party's 1956 nomination. The others are Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 standard bearer, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio who announced this week that he will enter Ohio's presidential primary as a favorite son candidate. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York also has announced that his name will be placed in nomination at the national convention, but he insists he is not an "active" candidate.

Kefauver pledged in his nomination statement that, as a candidate, he will "seek to maintain the spirit of unity which now permeates our party."

But he added that he will, in the past, attempt "to advance the forward-looking, progressive traditions of the Democratic Party which characterized the administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman."

"We must continue to seek solutions to great social problems in human terms—something which the Republicans have signally failed to do," the senator said.

Kefauver recalled his statement at the conclusion of a European trip this past fall that he would confer with party leaders before deciding whether to run. Kefauver said today that he received encouragement "particularly from the rank-and-file members of the party."

"I therefore announced my candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination at the convention which will be held in Chicago next August," he said. "I intend to conduct a vigorous campaign. I will again contest in a number of state primaries."

"Beyond the limiting factor of my work in the Senate, the amount of money available for campaigns, and the possibility of conflicting dates, I will hope to enter as many as I can."

In his statement, Kefauver attacked GOP policies as they affect business and the farmer.

"I will hope to aid in restoring an equitable relationship between industry, labor and agriculture," he said.

"We must act to restore farm income; we must re-examine our labor laws in the light of present conditions; and at the same time we must maintain an atmosphere in which business—and particularly independent and small business—can prosper."

"Most important of all, we must again employ our best intelligence and imagination in dealing with other nations in an effort to attain a just and secure peace. We must restore respect for, and confidence in, the administration of our foreign policy."

Miniature Autos Are Big Business

VENICE, Calif. (AP)—New autos of every make come off assembly lines here daily, surpassing production of all the Detroit manufacturers combined.

And there is just as much secrecy surrounding these new models as in the Michigan plants. The autos, however, don't compare in size with Detroit products. These cars are miniatures, authentic scale models assembled for plastic hobby kits.

But the officials (of the Revell-AMT Co.) have all the headaches which go along with design and manufacture of the real thing.

"We have the same problems during the change-over season," a company spokesman said. "Our dealers go all out to move their 1955 cars to make room for the 1956 models in the same manner as do the dealers of full-size cars."

At the plant, artists, designers and advertising men work around the clock so the campaign to launch the miniature motorama will hit at the same time as the impact of the originals on the market.

"It's no secret how the companies guard their new designs," the spokesman added. "But we have to guard the same secrets, only our job is 10 times as tough."

In the local plant, authentically scaled replicas of not one, but several of these cars are worked on from original plans. Top security measures are in force in every section of operation. Even visitors are screened. This security is maintained until the day the plastic scale model kits are released to dealers.

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike
Jokes About Medical Gadgets; Ohio Congressman
Changes Diaper One Mile
High.

WASHINGTON. — His doctor's
"slow down" report to the contrary, the GOP congressional leaders who met with President Eisenhower this week agreed that he never looked better or acted fitter.

The GOP chiefs, most of whom had not seen the President face to face since before his heart attack in Denver, came to Washington with their fingers crossed.
They were confused by the roseate statements of Republican National Chairman Len Hall on the President's health and the recent not-so-rosate report by Gen. Howard Snyder, his physician, that he could have to slow down. Some figured the delayed medical report was an effort to stall for time in order to box out conservative GOP candidates from the race, and those who saw Ike this week
still think so.

The question of whether he would run again wasn't even discussed—but during the meetings on legislative matters the President showed no visible signs of fatigue, though he did follow General Snyder's advice by taking a nap during the lunch interval.

As the congressional chiefs filed into the cabinet room Congressman Leslie Arends of Illinois remarked:

"You look pretty good to me,
Mr. President."
"Well, I feel good," beamed Eisenhower. "Just fine. But those gadgets my doctor has been putting on me recently—they say 'no,' according to the doctor. They say I've got to take it easy, to slow down, in order to prevent fatigue."

MILE-HIGH DIAPERS
"Maybe the gadgets are right, but sometimes I don't believe them. Actually, I've never felt better in my life."

Jealous Woman Wrecks Auto Of Ex-Boy Friend

EAST PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A jealous woman got so mad when she saw her ex-boy friend out with another woman early today that she wrecked his car and then led police on a three-county, 83-mile chase.

Police said it all started when 36-year-old Helen Slakis, Latham, spotted her former boy friend and the other woman in a restaurant here.

She stalked out of the restaurant, got in her car, and started ramming the boy friend's auto.
Police said she would smash her car into her ex-swain's auto, back off, and then ram it again.

The ex-boy friend called on police to save his car, and when they arrived the chase was on.

Miss Slakis stepped on the gas and, at speeds ranging up to 90 miles an hour, raced to Morton and then to Bloomington. Along the way she passed two roadblocks set up in her honor.

Five police cars were in on the chase when a state police squad finally brought Miss Slakis to a stop near Mount Pulaski. Seven charges were lodged against her and police were reported checking up on the statue books to see if they couldn't find some more.

Red China Demands May Slow Return Of Americans

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — A series of Red Chinese demands on the United States coupled with a string of new accusations may jeopardize the early return of Americans still in Communist hands, diplomatic sources feared today.

The Reds demanded that the United States give names and information on all Chinese residents and assist the Indian embassy in Washington to contact these persons.

They accuse the United States of "outright violation of the letter and spirit" of the agreement for the return of civilians reached in the ambassadorial talks here.

The demands and accusations were contained in a statement handed to correspondents Thursday night at an unprecedented press conference at the Red Chinese consulate.

The United States denied charges but diplomatic sources feared that the demands may stymie for an indefinite time the talks between U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping Nan. The United States has been reluctant to disclose the identity of Chinese still in the country for fear of reprisals against their families in China.

Four Illinois Tavern Operators Fined In Federal Court

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Four tavern operators pleaded guilty today to failure to pay the $250 federal tax on pinball machines used for gambling.

Emmett Walsh, East St. Louis, was fined $300 for three machines; Fred L. Sullivan Jr., Cairo, $200 for two machines; and Wesley Teel, East St. Louis, and A. F. Fleming, Springfield, $100 each for one machine.

A fifth tavern owner, Albert A. Miles, Springfield, pleaded not guilty to the same charge, and William L. Martin, Peoria, had his case transferred to the Federal Court in Peoria.

Taverns operated by all the men were hit in an October raid by federal revenue agents cracking down on pinball machine gambling.

Syria Asks UN to Punish Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Syria asked the United Nations Security Council today to punish Israel for an attack on Syrian positions and Egypt warned it was prepared to go to war to halt Israeli "aggressions."

The Council was meeting to consider a strong Syrian protest against the Israeli attack last Sunday near the Sea of Galilee. The attack cost 49 Syrian lives.

Army Plans No Action Against Turncoat Tenneson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said today it does not plan to take any action against Richard Tenneson, turncoat Korean war prisoner who has just returned to the United States.

If any charges are placed against Tenneson, experts said, it will be by the Justice Department in a civilian court—not by the military.

On the basis of a recent Supreme Court decision, the Army feels it is powerless to bring court-martial charges against Tenneson. As an Army spokesman put it:

"The Army feels it has no jurisdiction in this matter."

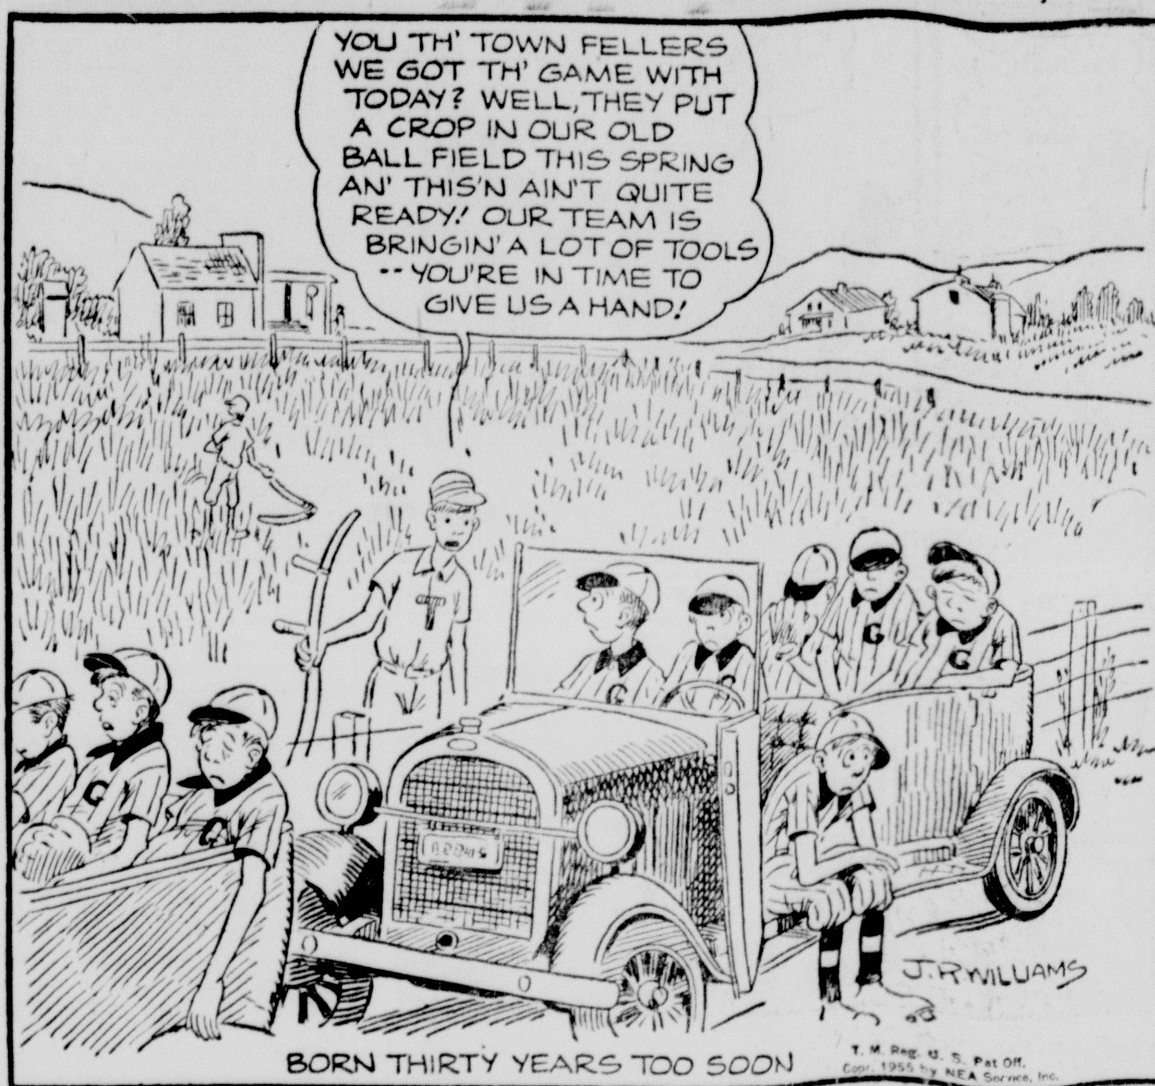

The Army's position is based on a recent Supreme Court decision declaring unconstitutional a provision in the Uniform Code of Military Justice giving the military authority to try discharged servicemen for crimes committed while in uniform.

Mother of Five Burns to Death in Cremation Killing

ADELL, Wis. (AP) — Mysterious footprints in the snow appeared the only clues today in the cremation killing of the mother of five children.

Authorities said the footprints were found going into a field and returning to the road at the point where a car containing the body of 29-year-old Mrs. Sylvia Ogan was discovered Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ogan was burned to death and her husband, Wyman, 49, was found in a ditch on his hands and knees about 25 feet from the car. There was evidence nearby that someone had rolled on the ground.

A two-gallon gasoline can was on the front floor of the car. There was no sign of accident.

Farm Bureau Approves Flexible Supports, Soil Bank

CHICAGO (AP) — Southern delegates leaving the American Farm Bureau convention today threatened secession over the controversial flexible price supports issue.

The convention approved flexible supports, plus a unique "soil bank" program, before winding up its sessions Thursday. But delegates from southern states fought the flexible supports approval in a two-hour floor battle.

One of their leaders, H. L. (Tiny) Wingate of the Georgia Farm Bureau, warned "I don't even know whether we will be in the Farm Bureau next year."

Another southerner, E. H. Agnew of South Carolina, told the delegates that opposition to high supports for cotton "makes it very difficult to maintain a spirit of loyalty" to the national federation.

"At the moment, this Farm Bureau, like the United States, is a democratic institution under Republican domination and control." Delegates from Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma joined in the demands for 90 per cent price supports on any commodity in a year in which marketing quotas are in effect.

But the AFBF delegates, representing 1,600,000 members of the largest farm organization in the nation, overrode the revolt and backed the flexible farm supports set up by the Eisenhower administration.

They also went on record in favor of a soil bank program designed to get rid of the government's huge crop surpluses and to stop the creation of new surpluses.

Seek $35,000 As Result of Auto-Truck Crash on Rt. 13

Clint Hill and Okie Hill, his wife, seek a total of $35,000 damages from Ronald Stroke of Eldorado as a result of an auto-truck crash on Route 13 near the Carrier Mills blacktop west of Harrisburg.

The crash occurred around 3:30 p. m. Aug. 13, 1955, the complaint, filed in circuit court by Atty. R. W. Harris of Marion, states.

The complaint says that Hill and his wife suffered injuries when the truck in which they were riding figured in a collision with a car driven by Stroke and charges Stroke with negligence.

Hill seeks $20,000 for injuries and truck damage, his wife $15,000 for injuries.

reasons and I want to look around at home and think it over a long time before I say.

"I'm very anxious to get home to Minnesota and be a farmer again like I was before I went into the Army."

Tennessee said he did not expect punishment for what he did because "I think I am protected by the terms of the armistice."

Wants to Reconsider

Tennessee also ducked questions on statements he made saying he was convinced United Nations' forces in Korea had used germ warfare on North Koreans and Chinese Reds.

"Now that I'm home I'll have to think that over again," he said. "But while I was there the evidence I was shown certainly indicated germ warfare was used."

He said evidence shown him included alleged United Nations' germ bombs.

Tennessee said the fact the federal courts had freed from military prosecution turncoats William A. Cowart, Dalton, Ga., Otho G. Bell, Hillsboro, Miss., and Olympia, Wash., and Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Texas, was not a factor in his return.

Tennessee also took a verbal crack at the three, accusing them of being "dishonest in the statements they made when they returned."

"We, the ones who remained in Red China, got to read newspaper stories about what they said when they returned home," he said. "We knew a lot of the things they said were not true."

Bell has stated he doesn't want to have anything to do with Tennessee.

Believes Others Will Return

Tennessee said he believed the other 16 turncoats still in China probably will come eventually.

"They asked me to try to get around to see their families and that is one thing I hope to do," he said.

He said the fact his mother made a trip to Tokyo in an effort to get to Korea and plead with him at the time he decided to cast his lot with the Communists had no bearing on his decision to return.

"I learned shortly after she was in Tokyo that she had made the trip to make me change my mind. But at that time, I decided to stay."

There was much talk in Red China that Formosa would some day be taken by force, he said, but that the Reds were holding up that operation "because of the present world situation."

After the interview, Tennessee left for Minneapolis and a reunion with his mother, Mrs. Portia Howe, and other members of the family.

In Minnesota, the chief hope of Tennessee's mother was that he would regain his religious faith and have a chance to live a normal life in his native land.

"I don't know his current state of mind, but I'm praying that he has not become an atheist," she said.

Ministers Ask Action By County Board of the Board of Supervisors, stated immediate investigation would be made of the charges against the theater's showing obscene pictures and a committee would be appointed to investigate the other charges.

Other Business

In other business Thursday the annual budget and appropriation ordinance was thoroughly discussed; committee reports were made and approved; the purchasing committee was instructed to advertise for bids for automobiles for the sheriff's office; board members voted to increase their daily pay from $10 to $12 as authorized by the last session of the state legislature; voted, at least for the present, to not establish a separate office of gas and oil assessor and approved the 1956 road building program as presented by Ralph Brown, county engineer.

Four major road construction projects were outlined by Mr. Brown — resurfacing the Billman road; complete the blacktopping of Harro road; complete a road in the north part of the county, starting at the Jot 'em Down store and continuing to the intersection of the Hamburg road; rebuilding the road east of Dewey street in Eldorado to the Gallatin county line.

Jury Idle While Court Wrangles On Tape Confession

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP) — Gibson Circuit Court Judge E. Dale Eby was expected to rule today on admitting a tape recorded confession as evidence in the first degree murder trial of Leslie Irvin.

The jury remained away from the courtroom as the legal wrangle over the important question entered its third day. Jurors spent their time watching television, resting and attending movies.

Irvin is charged with the murder of W. Wesley Kerr, 29, Evansville, Ind., filling station attendant, last Dec. 23. The 31-year-old Evansville defendant also is accused of killing five other persons in a wave of robbery-murders in Indiana and Kentucky. All of the victims were forced to kneel with their hands behind their backs and were shot in the head.

The trial went into its first night session Thursday while the state sought to establish that Irvin was not mistreated nor coerced into confession.

The defense and prosecuting attorneys indicated they would call one more witness each today, following which Eby will decide on whether or not the jury will be permitted to hear the confession.

Fire Routs Fairfield Motel Patrons

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A fire sent guests of a motel out into 8 degree above zero weather in their night clothes here Thursday night.

The fire of undetermined cause destroyed the central section of the L-shaped Fairfield Motel. It started in a boiler room burning natural gas about 10 p. m.

The owners, Buster Hunter and Earl Shehorn, did not say how many guests were in the motel at the time. They also did not know the amount of damage but said it will be heavy. The building was opened last January.

No one was injured in the fire.

Seven Out of 10 Farms Have Autos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau says 7 out of every 10 U. S. farms had automobiles in 1954.

The bureau said Thursday that a report, based on the 1954 census of agriculture, showed that 3,390,707 of the country's 4,782,393 farms had automobiles at that time.

The 1954 figures were only 934 higher than in 1950. But a decrease in the number of farms boosted the percentage with automobiles from 63 to 71 per cent in the four-year span.

Halt Search for More Evidence in Slaying of Couple

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities have given up their search of wells near Carlyle to find more evidence in the slaying of a Lebanon couple.

St. Clair County officers said they checked six of them Thursday without finding anything connected with the case. The officers are looking for some throw rugs and a bedspread missing from the home of the victims, as well as some trace of what happened to the killer's accomplice.

Fillmore Young, 34-year-old Carlyle Negro, has admitted slaying Harold Smith and his wife in their home in Lebanon and dumping their bodies in two wells near Carlyle. Officers believe he also killed an accomplice.

Young told officers of the accomplice but has refused to name him.

Texas was named by Captain de Leon. Spain sent him, in 1690, to found a mission and he named the country Texas from the Comanche Indian term "tejas," which meant "friends."

Petrolles, Tunneys Outnumber Those Who Wind Up Sugarless

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The best shoe shine going, they say, is produced by the quick moving hands of Sidney Walker, who works in the barber shop of a Miami Beach, Fla., hotel.

That Sid shines shoes for a living is considered, in most places, a scandal. This is the fellow who, as Beau Jack, made enough money with the lightweight championship of the world to handle his own needs for two lifetimes. Then there's the other Walker — Walker Smith, or Ray Robinson, to be exact. He had to come back to boxing at 35. And he has to remain in the business for some time to come in order to square a close to $100,000 tax debt with the government.

Take the Beau and Robinson, and toss in Joe Louis, who is at the point where it is doubtful he'll ever get even with the $750,000 he owes the government, and you wonder why a kid ever wants to go into the game. Even if he hits the top, you'd say, he still winds up with an altered face and a flat wallet.

But a check of big-name fighters of the past shows that these cases are far outweighed by those of such as Billy Petrolle.

Billy, the old Fargo Express, is back in the North Dakota city from which he started. But he isn't shining shoes. He's too busy with his duties as bank president and head of a large iron foundry.

Then there is Rocky Graziano, who could be out of television tomorrow and still have a guaranteed weekly income of executive figures, thanks to his ring career.

They're far from alone. Gene Tunney is usually found in his busy investment office in New York and Tommy Loughran is familiar to Wall Streeters as a big sugar broker.

As Chico Vejar noted the other day, for every two or three cases of fighters running through a fortune, there are countless others who never will have a financial worry because of their fists.

"Even those who run through it have gotten something," Chico said. "You take a kid driving a truck for 70-80 dollars a week. He goes into the ring and makes 30 or 40 grand a year. He moves away from the neighborhood into a high class hotel, drives a big car, doesn't put a thing on his back less than $200."

"When he's finished he goes back to the truck and the old neighborhood. But he's still had something he never could have gotten if he stayed on the truck. He lived like a king. What's so bad about that?"

Fighters usually live a spartan life while their careers are hot, so it often puzzles as to how they can run through a barrel of cash while going to bed early each night.

Harry Mendel of the International Boxing Club smiles when this point is brought up. Harry handled Joe Louis for a stretch and the Brown Bomber's monetary habits are no secret to him.

"How did he go broke? Well, here's an illustration," Harry says. "We were in a Chicago hotel and Joe says to me, 'Do they have a telegraph florist service here?' If they do, here's $50. I want you to send flowers to a woman in Arizona. I met her in the USO during the war and she is dying now."

"I told him the hotel had the service. So he says, 'Send her those flowers every week.' 'She died 10 weeks later—so Joe had spent $500. And it took him less than a minute, sitting in a hotel room, to spend it, too. 'Imagine if he had some time?'"

Lakers Defeat Syracuse, 135-133, In Triple Overtime

By United Press
Two new scoring records went into the National Basketball Association book today as a result of the Minneapolis Lakers' hair-raising 135-133 victory over the Syracuse Nationals in a triple-overtime game.

The 63-minute battle at Syracuse produced a two-team total of 268 points to erase the old mark of 248 set in the same city by Syracuse and Anderson in five overtimes on Nov. 24, 1949, won by Syracuse, 125-123.

The Nationals' total of 133 points was the highest score ever posted by a losing NBA team, topping Anderson's total in that same five-overtime struggle.

In regulation time, Jim Tucker's jump shot for Syracuse with five seconds left tied the count, 105-105. In the first overtime, Chuck Menzel of the Lakers sank a long one-hander with three seconds left to tie, 116-116. In the second overtime, two free throws by Ed Conlin of the Nats with 25 seconds created a 125-125 tie.

In the third overtime, Dick Garmaker's only goal of the game proved the game's biggest basket, putting the Lakers ahead to stay, 132-130 with 1:45 to play. Adolph Schayes had 34 points for the Nats and Clyde Lovellette 30 for the Lakers.

In the only other game played Thursday night, late scoring by Ernie Beck and Paul Arizin led the Philadelphia Warriors to their eighth straight home-court win, 80-3 over Fort Wayne.

Harlem Globetrotters to Play Hawaiians Here New Year's Eve

A top notch basketball attraction is scheduled for New Year's Eve night when the Harlem Globetrotters meet the Honolulu Hawaiians at Davenport gymnasium.

The Globetrotters, probably the most famous of all basketball organizations, are in their 29th year. The organization is owned and coached by A. M. Saperstein.

The current Globetrotters brigade is a pleasing mixture of veterans and top-grade newcomers, who blend the ingredients of sparkling play, hilarious comedy and razzle dazzle basketball into a brilliant exhibition of sports ability and showmanship at its best.

Saperstein, recognized as one of the outstanding showmen of the era, has gone all out to make sure the variety show accompanying the teams comprises the finest talent from all parts of the world. The performers are the epitome of their profession and keep the fans well entertained when the teams are off the court.

One of the stars scheduled to appear in Harrisburg with the Globetrotters is Lee Garner, 6-10 center. Despite his great height, he moves easily and quickly in his size 13 basketball shoes. He came to the Globetrotters from Alcorn college, Mississippi, where he was a track star in addition to a prize cager.

He is an excellent rebounder, good floor man and has many big scoring nights.

A roster of the Globetrotters scheduled to come to Harrisburg—Lemon Meadows 6-1, Bill "Rookie" Brown 6-2, Lee Garner 6-10, Roman Truman 6-4, Alvin Clinkscales 6-5, Norman Lee 6-4, Murphy Summers 6-4, Charles Holton 6-3 and Willis Thomas 6-4.

Half time entertainment will be furnished from a group including Jacques Gordon, unicyclist; Tony Lavelli, accordionist; Mike Pickering, juggler and trampolinist; Ted Bourne and Bob Anderson, table tennis duo. Miss Kapiolani Miller, "Miss Hawaii of 1954-55" is also listed to be in Harrisburg.

The attraction is being sponsored here by the group of men backing the project to get night baseball for the youth of Harrisburg.

Tickets may be purchased at the Schwartz barbershop, Karnes hardware and Jackson drug store. General admission is $1.50, reserved seats $2. Students may purchase tickets in advance for $1.

Kentucky Saves Narrow Victory by Desperate Freeze

By United Press
The amazing evidence continued to pile up today that the Kentucky basketball team may have been badly over-rated.

Loaded with height and high-scoring veterans, this was supposed to be one of the best teams turned out in recent years by Coach Adolph Rupp, the highly-successful "Baron of the Bluegrass." But a 62-61 victory over Maryland Thursday night, saved only by a desperate "freeze," was the Wildcats' third poor showing within six nights.

First, last Saturday, it was Temple that stunned the court world by whipping the Wildcats, 73-61, in the biggest upset this season. On Monday night, DePaul nearly did the same thing, losing 71-69, only on Jerry Bird's basket for Kentucky with six seconds left.

Thursday night, at College Park, Md., the Rupp-men seemed to be finding themselves at last as they zipped to a 39-31 margin over the unranked Terrapins. Then, suddenly, Kentucky was in trouble again as Maryland staged a rally led by forward Bob Kessler. For the final 10 minutes, the lead bounced back and forth like a hot potato. Finally Kentucky got a chance to freeze out the clock with its one-point lead and that was the game. Kessler took scoring honors with 25 points and guard Gerry Calvert led Kentucky with 19.

If there's something seriously wrong with the Wildcats, they're in for plenty of trouble very quickly. They return home Saturday night to play host to Idaho, a visitor from the Pacific Coast Conference, and then Tuesday night they meet Minnesota in the opening round of the Kentucky Invitational tourney, followed the next night by a clash with either Utah, the nation's No. 2 team, or fifth-ranked Dayton.

Nashua Brings Record Price Of $1,251,200

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Nashua's new owner, Leslie Combs II, indicated today he is mapping a busy 1956 racing campaign for the champion colt.

The prominent Kentucky breeder-owner purchased Nashua Thursday for a record price of $1,251,200 from the estate of the late William Woodward, Jr.

"Primarily we bought him (Nashua) as a stallion because I wanted his cross in our breeding lines," Combs said. "Of course he might pay out as a racehorse before we retire him, and we certainly wouldn't object to that."

Combs added that "two or three others went into this thing with me, but I'm not at liberty to say who they are."

According to present plans, Nashua will be shipped next week to Hialeah Park in Florida, where he has been nominated for the $50,000 McLennan handicap and the $100,000 Widener "cap." The colt currently is wintering at A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Stud, only a few miles from Combs' Spendthrift Farm, and will remain there until leaving for Florida.

Nashua already has earned $945,415 in two years of racing and, according to Combs tentative plans, will get a chance to surpass the all-time record of $1,085,760 earned by the great Citation. He also has been nominated for the Santa Anita Handicap this winter.

Carrier Mills Beats Stonefort, 61-57, In Overtime Contest

THE STORY: Capt. Jered Naish, a merchant seaman, is almost a greenhorn as master of a whaler. He is in charge of a motley crew and brutal officers. He is not over-trustful of Blageen, his steward, who has brought his nephew Alfred along as a cabin boy.

The boy Alfred broke from the pantry followed by the steward. He evaded the clutch of his uncle's hands and snapped to a position of attention before Naish.

"Stowaway aboard, sir," he said. "Mr. Wilson found 'im in the spare boat 'midships. Triced up neat, but big and fat."

From the deck, along the quarter ladder, then toward the companion scuttle, he heard footsteps, the punctuation of a fist and a boot toe that cruelly caught flesh. It seemed that the Obis hadn't started the voyage as a very happy ship.

The man who entered the cabin between the two mates was a bizarre as described by Alfred. His stomach fat, hairy and wrinkled, hung immensely down outside the wreck of his trousers. He had tiny feet shod in shellacked shoes and Naish glanced into the bloodshot, puffy eyes of extreme intelligence. "Morning to you, Captain, sir," the man said.

"Don't talk 'til you're ordered to, ya swab," Mr. Wilson said and hit a blow that set the fat man swaying.

"What's your name?" Naish said. He disliked the blow and yet knew that it should have been struck.

"Albemarle Morrow, sir. My father was once impressed off Guadeloupe into the ship of the same name. Commanded by Horatio Nelson, no less."

Mr. Wilson had his hand lifted again, but Naish gestured to him. "What are you doing aboard of this ship?"

"False friends, sir, and the fruit of the vine mixed with what must honestly be called idle curiosity."

"Take the log book," Naish told Mr. Wilson. "Enter this as it's said."

"I can't write down such," Mr. Wilson said. "I ain't got the skill for it."

Mr. Cupp had the log book, the ink pot and pen from the bulkhead shelf; he wrote down. "Albemarle Morrow, stowaway." Then held the pen motionless.

"How did you get aboard?" Naish said.

"Sir, I was sorely drunk," Morrow said. "To my remaining memory, I was rolled down some dock like a hoghead, dumped into a boat and thus carried out to your vessel. The rest could be at best only conjecture. I was by that time gagged and bound."

Mr. Cupp snapped shut the log book. "The carpenter and the cooper," Mr. Cupp said. "Go get them." Mr. Wilson, Naish said. He glanced back at the fat man. "What's your trade?"

"Well, sir," Morrow said, "From being an honest tavernkeeper and having drunk much more of the profits than my custom would allow, I became an agent for the New Bedford whalers."

"You mean that you have been a recruiter?"

"Farm boys from all over Genesee County and as far West as Buffalo have fallen into my wiles. My inside coat pocket contains some of the recruiting folders."

Mr. Cupp, laughing, plucked into the torn garment and dropped on the table a handful of luridly colored pamphlets. On the covers were shiny, gigantic whales, shiner whale boats and in the distance upon an improbably blue and smooth sea a vessel that was solely the artist's dream.

"A vulgar document," Morrow said, "and undoubtedly far from the truth. Yet I was engrossed by it. I could do nothing more than come down-east and witness for myself what was truth and what was fancy. New Bedford was my destination, but I became overpowered by drink in Boston. From one tavern to another, gentlemen, and thus to your vessel."

Mr. Wilson was on the companion ladder, a pair of men in clacking seaboots at his back. "Carpenter and cooper, sir," Wilson said. "Names are Oliphant and Titcomb."

"Aye," Naish said. He indicated Albemarle Morrow. "Have you seen this man before?"

"Drunk on the dock in Boston, sir," the cooper said. "Said he'd up and vowed to stow aboard of a whaler."

"And you, Chips?"

"Yes, sir," The carpenter shuffled his boots.

"You helped him?"

The carpenter kept silent. It was again Titcomb who spoke. "Not right away, sir. But he snuk aboard our lumber."

"Who got him aboard here? who triced him up and stowed him in the spare boat?"

"We don't know, sir."

"Get on deck!" Naish said.

"When I reckon out what you're to be logged, I'll send for you."

Morrow made a naturally dramatic wave of his arms after the pair had gone. "Pity them, Captain, sir," he said. "As for me, I should delight to become a member of your crew."

Naish cursed. "Sign him on as landsman, Mister."

A black-lashing squall was on the ship from winward. Rain rapped the decks and the experienced hands ran at his orders to slack the sheets. As it passed and the sunlight flared, he noticed away to the southward the white flutter of broached water. Whale, he told himself nervously, and started for the main top.

But it was a school of dolphins that had broached; he returned almost in shame to the quarter deck. (To Be Continued)

Girl Shot by Rejected Suitor Fights for Life

KITTANNING, Pa. — A 15-year-old girl fought for her life today in the same hospital where a 17-year-old rejected suitor who wounded her and killed her parents and uncle died Thursday night.

The youth, John Fallone, was wounded fatally Thursday when he traded shots with a 35-man posse and wounded one policeman.

Officials at Armstrong County Memorial Hospital said the condition of Gladys Smail was so critical that the bullet lodged in her chest could not be removed. The policeman, Gus Zanos of Appolo, Pa., was in satisfactory condition with a head wound.

Police said the love sick youth, an above average student, bought the death rifle and ammunition with money given him by his mother to buy his father a Christmas present.

Fallone, described by his stunned parents and high school principal as a boy who never caused trouble, plotted the deaths of all 10 members of Gladys' family because the girl rejected his pleas to "go steady."

"I can't understand it," sobbed his father, Ernest, a farmer. "He never gave us any trouble. He was home early every night. John was a good boy."

Mrs. Fallone sat by a window of her home near Ford City, Pa., and stared blankly at Christmas decorations.

"My boy, my boy," she sobbed again and again. "I don't know why he did it."

The boy, who only last week could not bring himself to butcher a steer on his father's farm, never regained consciousness after he was shot in the head during a gun battle in his woodland hide-out.

Construction of Illinois Toll Roads Expected to Begin in 1956

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Construction of the long-delayed Illinois toll highways will begin by mid-1956, if present Toll Highway Commission plans are effected.

A commission spokesman said the first of the toll roads should be open to traffic by November, 1957, barring further delays.

Commission Chairman Evan Howell and Secretary Orville Taylor are expected to complete the signing of the 415 million dollars worth of toll road bonds in New York Friday, clearing the way for construction plans.

Since the toll highway legislation was enacted in 1953 opponents have battled the commission all the way to the U. S. and Illinois Supreme Courts and into the state Legislature. But a recent state Supreme Court decision cleared the way for the bond issue.

The commission claims rising prices increased cost of the first 193-mile toll system by about 25 million dollars while it was bogged down in litigation and legislative investigations.

About 408 million dollars will be turned over to the commission after the signing of the bonds, after deduction of investment fees.

A number of engineering firms will then be named to make "section designs" for the toll highways. The engineering firms will design various sections of the highways under commission supervision.

The initial toll road program will include 193 miles of toll highway in a three-pronged design:

1. An east-west 25-mile toll road from the Cook-Du Page County line, with a connecting link for the Congress Street Expressway, to Deer Pass Road three miles west of the Fox River at Aurora.

2. The 80.2 mile tri-state route from the Indiana border around Chicago to U. S. 41 at the Wisconsin border.

3. The 88.4 mile northern Illinois route from Chicago to near Rockford and Beloit, Wis.

Construction plans call for two 25-foot highways divided by a 50-foot median strip to make a divided four-lane highway. Pavement will be 10 inches thick. A 300-foot right-of-way will be required.

Expected completion dates are: Nov. 15, 1957, for the northern Illinois sector, except for the part from O'Hare Field to Eden's superhighway, which is set for completion Dec. 31, 1958; Dec. 1, 1957, for the east-west road; and Dec. 31, 1958 for the tri-state road.

Present commission plans call for tolls of about 1 1/2 cents per mile for automobiles and a sliding scale for trucks ranging up to about 6 cents a mile. Commission studies indicate a return of about 24 million dollars from the first year of operation, more as the routes become better known.

Construction costs are expected to average about a million dollars per mile, but go higher in heavily populated areas, or where industrial or commercial structures must be removed.

Fancy Yuletide Decorations In Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD — Christmas in Hollywood is snowless under the sunshine, but this year the film stars made up for it with the fanciest yuletide decorations in history.

Liberace's neighbors are used to his amazing house with its backyard fence decorated with musical notes. But even they were startled to see a huge lighted Santa playing a piano by that same candelabra atop his roof. Next to Santa are reindeer and huge glittering stars.

Piano music — Liberace's, of course — is spread around the neighborhood from loudspeakers.

"Well, I'm the mayor of Sherman Oaks and I sorta felt I wanted to have some different decorations," smiled the pianist.

The Liberace Yuletide touch also includes a rhinestone-studded tree. This glittering sight, sprinkled with artificial snowflakes and jeweled ornaments that would make St. Nick drop his beard at the North Pole, stands by Liberace's piano-shaped swimming pool.

Another white tree in the Liberace living room is decorated with conventional ornaments, and a third tree on the lawn is brightly lit.

Richard Boone, star of TV's "Medic," is a close runner-up in the unusual tree division. He draped his with bandages, balls of cotton, scissors and stethoscopes to match the doctor character he plays on the NBC show.

Senior Class Play At Thompsonville Saturday Night

Saturday night the Senior class of Thompsonville high school will present a play, "This Ghost Business," in the school gym.

Joe Hardy (Lester Snyder) and Eddie Canfield (Gordon Duty) buy a cottage at the lake and bring their wives, Laura (Oveda Carroll) and Mabel (Jean Baker), there for a nice, quiet vacation.

Suddenly, Mrs. Effie Forrest (Sharon Clem), a neighbor, brings disturbing news—Weary Rest, as the cottage is named, is haunted! A ghost appears and from then on there are shivers, suspense, and thrills.

Magnolia (Ann Beckman), the colored cook, threatens to leave because she "Ain't gonna stay where them ghosts is." Cooks are hard to find and Eddie's schemes for keeping her there and exposing the ghosts cause many exciting and hilarious scenes. Just as one ghost is exposed and they settle down to enjoy their vacation, another one pops up and the excitement is on again.

Laura and Mabel, who prove that women can't keep a secret; Marie (Ruth Gammon), the French maid, who wants to talk to her "departed" uncle; Stevens (Tom Marsh), the former owner of Weary Rest; Mrs. Forrest, the talkative neighbor; Bill (Norman Carlile) the tramp, whom Magnolia believes she killed with a ketchup bottle but who later turns up to "haunt" her; and Mose (Jim Series), Magnolia's boy-friend, all combine with Joe and Eddie to make this one of the snappiest mystery-comedies of the season.

Admission at the door is 35 cents for students and 60 cents for adults.

Unique Auto License Plates For Radio 'Hams'

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Almost 3,000 unique Illinois 1956 auto licenses may puzzle the state's motorists during the coming year.

Such outlandish numbers as W9DUA may set other motorists to wondering about their eyesight. But the plates are perfectly legal. They will have the "Land of Lincoln" slogan, state and year symbols, and "amateur" on one edge, "radio" on the other.

The secretary of state's office reported 2,975 special plates have been issued to Illinois amateur operators under legislation passed by the 1955 Legislature. The numbers are the call letters for the amateur radio "ham's" station.

The law was designed to give the amateurs, who at times are called for emergency service in disaster areas, quick and positive identification.

An estimated 5,000 operators are eligible to obtain the special plates, but deadline for applications was Oct. 1.

There is a $3 added charge for the special plates. Only individuals who operate their own "ham" stations and own an automobile are eligible. Husband and wife registrations, or company registrations, cannot be issued on the special plates. W9DUA are the call letters for the amateur station operated for the American Red Cross at Springfield.

Replaced The hand sickle, such as was used by the ancient Egyptians to harvest grain, continued in general use until displaced by the grain cradle in the late 1700s.

SIU to Play Home Tilt Saturday Against Ottawa

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Southern Illinois cage fans wanting to see a college basketball game will have one of their best opportunities of the year here Saturday night, Dec. 17, as SIU plays host to Ottawa (Kan.) university.

Since Southern's gym capacity of 1,000 will not hold one third the 5,500 students enrolled, area fans usually find it extremely difficult to see an SIU basketball.

This week, however, is final examination week and most of Southern's students will leave Friday for the annual Christmas vacation, leaving ample seats for area sports fans.

Southern dropped a 99-71 decision to Michigan State—one of the nation's top teams—in a game at East Lansing Tuesday night, but hopes to get back on the victory side against Ottawa.

Failure to rebound hurt SIU in the Michigan State game, but the Ottawa players are only average in height and Southern is expecting considerable improvement in this department.

A guard, captain Joe Johnson, Mt. Vernon, has been pacing the team in scoring the past two games, scoring 20 points against Millikin university last Saturday and 14 points against Michigan State.

Robert Welch, transfer student from Centralia Junior college, dropped in scoring during the past week but may regain his shooting eye in Saturday's tilt.

SIU center Seymour Bryson of Quincy has been having trouble with early-game fouling, but has otherwise been one of the brightest spots in the lineup. Bryson is only a freshman.

After playing Ottawa Saturday, SIU meets Missouri School of Mines in a benefit game at Metropolis Monday, Dec. 19.

Saturday's preliminary game will be an intrasquad contest. Game times are 6:15 and 8:15.

Civil Servants Have Different Goals

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — (AP) — What makes a civil servant happy in his job?

Dr. Dwaine Marvick, a political scientist, interviewed 200 professional and administrative employees of a federal agency in Washington and came up with three types—institutionalists, specialists and hybrids.

The institutionalists, almost to a man, expected to work out their lives as civil servants, usually in an executive capacity. They placed greatest emphasis on such considerations as prestige, security, advancement, salary and influence.

The specialists looked forward to careers in non-executive job without caring very much whether in government or private business. They were happiest when the job offered them a chance to use their specialized training and an opportunity to learn.

The hybrids, who resembled the specialists in education and experience, tended to be more like the institutionalists in career plans both looking forward to long government service. Opportunity for advancement was especially important to this group.

Discuss Special Districts for Education of Handicapped Children

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois School Problems Commission today discussed putting special education programs in the state on an "intermediate district" basis to encourage development of the programs and distribute their costs fairly.
The suggested "intermediate district" for education of physically or otherwise handicapped children would be a kind of federation of local school districts. This would be under the direction of the county superintendent of schools in which the special education unit would be located.
Each school district would bear a share of the special unit according to the number of children it sent to the school.
Commission Chairman Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh (R-Champaign) said there presently are a number of such arrangements but they have no legal status.
He said the districts which operate the special units, therefore, are sometimes unable to collect the costs of the special pupil education from the districts which send them to the school.
Present legislation, he said, provides that the district with a special education program collect a normal per pupil assessment from the district in which the pupil resides and then collect the "excess cost" from the state.
But the state has limits on the amounts it will pay in excess costs, and the districts with the special units sometimes "catch it in the neck" financially, Clabaugh said.
The commission discussed the possibility of recommending legislation to increase the state limits on excess costs and to give the proposed "intermediate districts" legal standing so they could enforce collection of the added costs from other districts within the "intermediate district."
The commission decided to postpone its discussion until it gives county superintendents an opportunity to present their views.
Lester Grimm, executive secretary of the Illinois Education Assn., told the commission that about 1,800 exceptional children presently are "out of school" in Illinois because of a lack of facilities to accommodate them.
He said about 6,000 such handicapped children presently are in special education units.

Predict Cheaper School Buildings
CHICAGO — One-story wooden schoolhouses are on the way back, a Long Branch, N. J., board of education official told the convention of the Association of School Business Managers of the United States and Canada.
Harold W. West predicted that such structures will replace costly big school buildings.
Lower cost is the big factor, West said, in these days of soaring birth rate and shortage of funds for school construction.
"Costly brick walls and fire escapes will be things of the past," he added.
The one-story buildings have no stairs to climb and no costly basement excavations, he pointed out.
"And the greater possible use of skylights means improved, cheaper light," he explained.
Population Problem
But West conceded that in a heavily congested area, "there is no choice but to build multi-story buildings."
William A. Ganster, Waukegan, Ill., architect, advised the 1500 officials attending the convention that school buildings should be permanent.
"Temporary or portable buildings," Ganster declared, "are only justified if the district is under such financial duress that it cannot provide permanent buildings."
H. C. Bleckschmidt, assistant superintendent of Normandy, Mo., schools, gave the officials a sharp picture of the nation's swelling population and resulting strain on schools.
"In 1947, at our meeting, it was predicted that the population of the United States would be 155 million by 1960," he reminded. "It is already beyond 160 million, and now we are talking of 200 million by 1960."

Knowledge of Cancer Is Preferred in Poll
CHICAGO — Most patients would want to be told if they had cancer, a survey shows.
The study was conducted by Dr. Otis Brown, of Bremen, Ind., who sent out 1,000 questionnaires and got 477 replies.
His findings, reported in Science Digest, showed that 96.6 per cent of all persons who replied said they would want to know if they had cancer.
Brown said 99.1 per cent of those between the ages of 18 and 35 wanted to know the truth, compared with 92.5 per cent between the ages of 66 and 90.
A slightly higher percentage of men than women wanted to know the truth.
Brown said patients who probably should not be told the truth are those too young to understand, those mentally unfit, those who previously have said they would rather not be told, and a few of the very aged with slowly growing malignancies.

Traditional Eggnog Lends Flavor To Festive Holiday Treat

COMPLETE WITH HOLLY BOWS for a dressy touch, eggnog pie fits into the festive holiday scene perfectly.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Everyone expects eggnog sometime during the Christmas holidays. That's an old tradition. But let's enjoy a variation on that pleasant theme and make an eggnog pie—creamy, lovely to look at, and flecked with nutmeg.
Eggnog Pie (Yield: 6 servings)
One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1 1/4 cup cold water, 3 eggs, separated; 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cup milk, 1 cup heavy cream, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 1/2 inch baked pastry shell, 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg, holly leaves for garnish.
Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler. Add salt and 1/3 cup of sugar. Stir in milk. Cook over hot water until the mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring frequently. Blend in softened gelatin. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Beat in remaining 1/3 cup sugar; fold into mixture. Set aside to cool. Beat 1-2 of the heavy cream and fold into cooked mixture along with the vanilla extract. Turn into a baked pastry shell. Just before serving, whip remaining cream and place around edge of pie. Sprinkle center with ground nutmeg and arrange holly leaves in cream, for garnish.
Here's another recipe for Christmas:
Cherry Butter Cookies (makes 2 to 3 dozen)
One cup softened butter or margarine, 1 1/4 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla, 1 cup finely chopped walnuts, 1-2 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries).
Cream butter or margarine with sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and mix well. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill thoroughly. Roll out on lightly floured surface to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured cookie cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Frost and garnish with additional maraschino cherries, as desired.
